Private Property Rear Extension

We carried out the following private property rear extension. Due to the vaulted ceiling within the new extension, a steel support frame was installed to take the weight of the roof. This provided adequate space for six roof lights which provide the new room with a light airy feel. The finished extension has provided a room for a large open plan kitchen and a family area. This space has been enhanced further by the installation of large bi-fold doors. The new doors open onto the new patio area and allow the garden to be enjoyed all year round.

The client is extremely pleased with the new extension. They are looking forward to benefiting from it for years to come.
