School Kitchen Refurbishments

This school kitchen refurbishments included the formation of an island. Both new and existing appliances were used along with the installation of a new commercial ventilation system. The Kitchen was enlarged via the removal of the existing cloakroom. A new entrance into the dining hall was formed and alterations to the existing ramp and steps were made. Waller Building Services overcome a major issue when we discovered some structural steelwork that was previously unknown. This extended the duration of the works. The steelwork had to be relocated to enable us to maintain the proposed layout. All in all the client was very happy with the end results as the project came in on budget.
